

Daylite

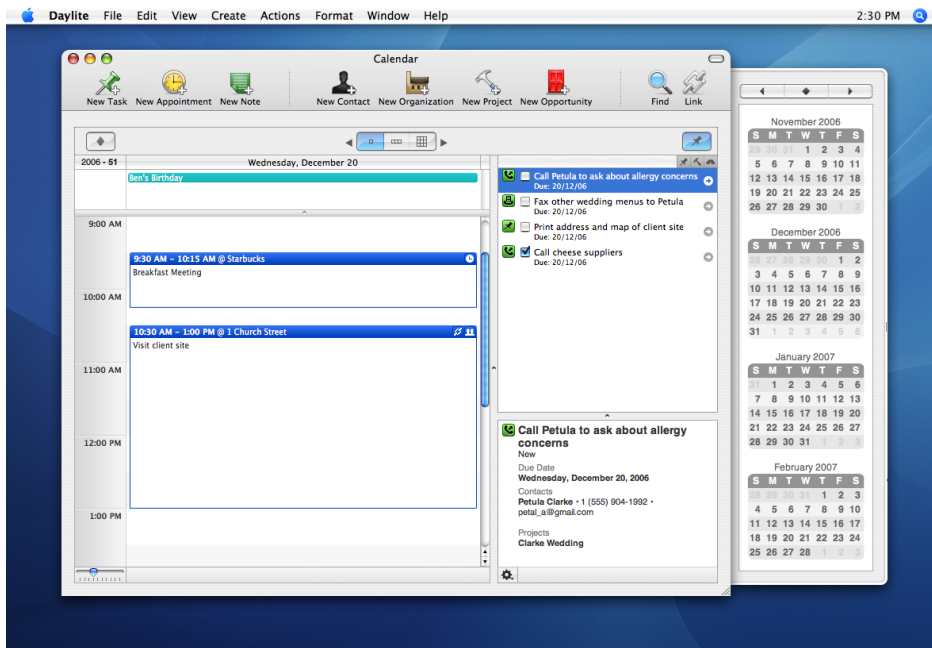

Make your business more productive.

Easy. Grow into Daylite's sophisticated features, using its familiar Mac interface.

Powerful. Link everything, so you know what you have to do, when, and for whom.

Smart. iTunes-like smart lists help you focus on the most relevant information.

Daylite fits. Daylite's real productivity power is in its flexibility. Thanks to an intuitive process called linking, Daylite keeps everything one click away—contacts, projects, opportunities, appointments, tasks, and more. You can work from a daily task list with all your to-do's, or open a project to see all its linked tasks and appointments. If you prefer to stay on the calendar, just open a meeting to see who's attending. And Daylite's smart lists help you customize your view, so you can focus on the data that's important to you now. Single users, multi users, telecommuters, and road warriors: Daylite will work for you.

Make e-mail work for you. E-mail is key in your business, and Daylite goes above and beyond anything you've used before by storing and linking messages to projects and contacts, giving you context and relevance. When you send or receive an e-mail, Daylite automatically finds any related open projects and with a single click, you can review the whole project—including tasks, meetings, files and more. Likewise, when you send a message, Daylite keeps it linked to the contact and any relevant projects. Daylite's e-mail integration works in Mac OS X Mail, so you don't have to learn a whole new mail program. It's easy, it's powerful and it's smart.
